

A Reading A-Z Decodable Book • Word Count: 253

The Clown Who Lost Her Smile

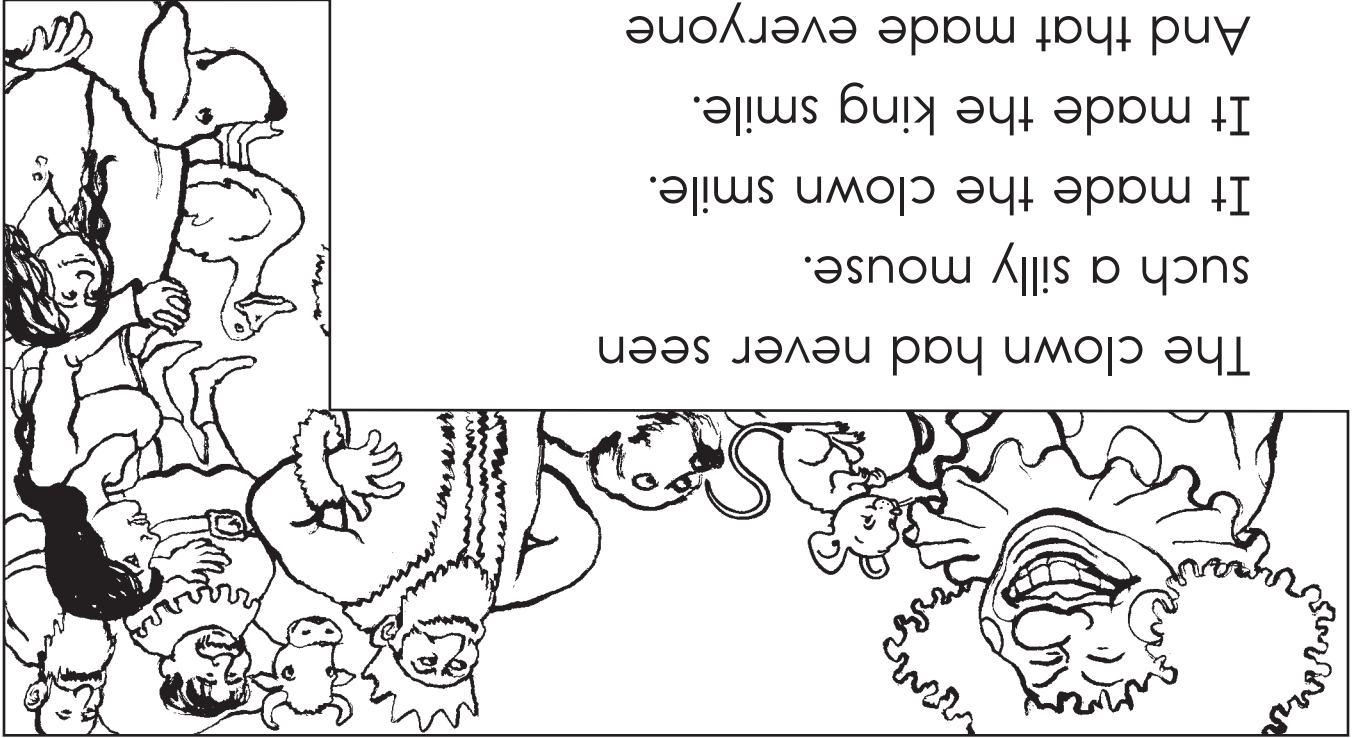

DECODABLE • 64

The Clown Who Lost Her Smile

Written by Cheryl Ryan • Illustrated by Philip Newsom

The clown had never seen such a silly mouse.
 It made the clown smile.
 It made the king smile.
 And that made everyone around town smile.

The Clown Who Lost Her Smile

Written by Cheryl Ryan Illustrated by Philip Newsom

www.readinga-z.com

The people had to make the clown smile.
 They hired a funny mouse.
 The people sat the clown on a couch.
 They had the mouse bounce
 and howl for the clown.

ELEMENTS USED IN THIS BOOK

New phonic element diphthong /ou/: ou, ow

Words with new phonic element brown, bounce, cloud, clown, couch, cow, crown, down, grouch, fowl, found, frown, hound, house, howl, mouse, out, owl, scowl, town

Reviewed phonic elements diphthong /oi/; variant vowels

Story words silly, wrong

Reviewed story words face, far, people

New high-frequency word around

Special considerations inflectional endings -ed, -ing, -s, -y;
 possessive 's;
 two-syllable decodable words

No one found the clown's smile.
Then they saw a wise owl.
The owl said, "You are looking in the wrong place.
The clown's smile will never be found around town.
The clown's smile must come from inside the clown."

In a small town far away, there was a clown who had lost her smile.
Some days her face had a frown.
Some days her face had a scowl.

They asked the brown mouse
 if she had seen the clown's smile.
 They asked cows and lots of fowl
 if they had seen the clown's smile.
 They all scowled and said no.

A black cloud seemed to hang over the clown.
 The people of the town
 thought that clowns with frowns spoiled their day.
 If a clown has a frown,
 the king frowns too.
 And he is such a grouch with a crown without his smile.

The hound growled and said no.
if he had seen the clown's smile.
They asked a brown hound

The people went from house to house looking for the clown's smile.
They looked all around.
They looked up and down.
They looked all around town,
but no one found the clown's smile.